Psychosynthesis is a school of psychology founded by the Italian psychiatrist Roberto Assagioli at the beginning of last century. Assagioli was the first to introduce psychoanalysis in Italy, and Freud saw him as an outpost of his doctrines. But soon Assagioli developed his own approach. In his view, psychoanalysis was too pathology-oriented and had a risk of encouraging patient dependence. Psychosynthesis offers a range of techniques one can use on one's own, and it includes in its vision such phenomena as intuitions, expansion of consciousness, peak experiences, higher feelings, as a legitimate field of inquiry and exploration. Psychosynthesis is not just a method of psychotherapy, but also a way of self-education for all. In this seminar we will look into the main themes of psychosynthesis and experiment with some of its techniques.

Piero Ferrucci is a psychotherapist and a philosopher. He was trained by Roberto Assagioli, the founder of psychosynthesis, and has written several books: Heel je leven, Zeven wegen naar het self, Wat kinderen ons leren, Vriendelijkheid, Rondleiding in de psychosynthese, Beauty and the Soul .
He also co-authored The Child of Your Dreams with Laura Huxley, and edited The Human Situation, a book of lectures by Aldous Huxley.
Piero Ferrucci has had a psychotherapy practice for the past thirty-five years. He teaches in several European countries, and lives in Florence with his wife and two sons.
